The performance data shown represents past performance, which does not guarantee future results. Returns for periods shorter than one year are cumulative, and results for other share classes will vary. Shares will fluctuate in value and, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance cited. Performance figures assume that all distributions are reinvested. For the most recent month-end performance, visit jihinvestments.com.

Calendar year returns⁷Growth of a hypothetical $10,000 investment

Class I without sales charge – 8/1/19 – 3/31/25

This chart illustrates the growth of a hypothetical $10,000 investment based on net asset value beginning on the date noted with all distributions reinvested. Performance data shown excludes fees and expenses. The performance data would be lower if such fees and expenses were included. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Returns for periods shorter than one year are cumulative.

1 It is not possible to invest in an index. Index definitions can be found within the "What you should know before Investing" section on the last page of this fact sheet. 2 "Net (what you pay)" represents the effect of a contractual fee waiver and/or expense reimbursement and is subject to change. 3 Upside capture ratio measures a manager's performance in up markets relative to the market itself. Downside capture ratio measures a manager's performance in down markets relative to the market itself. 4 Effective duration measures the security or portfolio's sensitivity to changes in interest rates. A longer duration will cause fluctuation when interest rates change. 5 Unsubsidized yields reflect what the yield would have been without the effect of reimbursements and waivers. 6 The SEC Yield is a standardized annual yield based on the most recent 30-day period that is calculated in accordance with the prescribed SEC formula. The SEC Yield is subject to change and may be negative when a fund's expenses exceed its income. The SEC Yield may not equal the fund's actual income distribution rate and therefore, a per share distribution may still be paid to shareholders when the SEC Yield is negative. 7 Returns for the fund's first year are since fund inception. 11 Listed holdings reflect the largest portions of the fund's total and may change at any time. They are not recommendations to buy or sell any security. Data is expressed as a percentage of net assets and excludes cash and cash equivalents.

What you should know before investing

Fixed-income investments are subject to interest-rate and credit risk; their value will normally decline as interest rates rise or if an issuer is unable or unwilling to make principal or interest payments. Investments concentrated in one sector may fluctuate more widely than investments diversified across sectors. Investments in higher-yielding, lower-rated securities involve additional risks as these securities include a higher risk of default and loss of principal. Foreign investing, especially in emerging markets, has additional risks, such as currency and market volatility and political and social instability. Currency transactions are affected by fluctuations in exchange rates, which may adversely affect the U.S. dollar value of a fund's investments. Mortgage- and asset-backed securities may be sensitive to changes in interest rates and may be subject to early repayment and the market's perception of issuer creditworthiness. Liquidity—the extent to which a security may be sold or a derivative position closed without negatively affecting its market value, if at all—may be impaired by reduced trading volume, heightened volatility, rising interest rates, and other market conditions. Frequent trading may increase fund transaction costs. The use of hedging and derivatives could produce disproportionate gains or losses and may increase costs. Fund distributions generally depend on income from underlying investments and may vary or cease altogether in the future. Please see the fund's prospectus for additional risks.

The Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate 1-3 Years Index is an unmanaged index of publicly issued investment grade corporate, US Treasury, and government agency securities with remaining maturities of one to three years. Unlike mutual funds, indices are not managed and do not incur fees or expenses. It is not possible to invest directly in an index. The benchmark shown demonstrates how the fund's performance compares against the returns of similar investments, which may differ from the broad-based securities index shown in the fund's prospectus.

8 Ratings are from Moody's, if available, and from Standard & Poor's or Fitch, respectively, if not. Securities in the Not rated category have not been rated by a rating agency; however, the subadvisor performs its own credit analysis for many of these securities and assigns comparable ratings that are used for compliance with applicable investment policies. Prior to June 30, 2021, internal ratings provided by the subadvisor were included. Ratings composition will change. Individual bonds are rated by the creditworthiness of their issuers; these ratings do not apply to the fund or its shares. U.S. government and agency obligations are backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government. All other bonds are rated on a scale from AAA (extremely strong financial security characteristics) down to CCC and below (having a very high degree of speculative characteristics). "Short-term investments and other," if applicable, may include security or portfolio receivables, payables, and certain derivatives. 9 Holdings, sector weightings, market capitalization and portfolio characteristics are subject to change at any time. There is no guarantee the fund will maintain the portfolio characteristics, or the future profitability of the securities identified and set forth herein. 10 The asset mix excludes any negative exposures that may result from the use of futures or forward contracts.
