Management’s Discussion of Fund Performance

SUMMARY OF RESULTS

Strategic Income Opportunities Fund (Class NAV/JHSEX) returned 5.46% for the year ended August 31, 2025. The most significant factors affecting fund performance during the period included interest rate cuts by the U.S. Federal Reserve—which contributed to lower short-term bond yields—shifting U.S. trade and tariff policies, geopolitical tensions, and mounting budget deficits.

TOP PERFORMANCE CONTRIBUTORS

Corporate bonds | High-yield and investment-grade corporate bonds, along with bank loans, represented a substantial portion of the portfolio on average and were among the top performers in the bond market.

Duration (interest-rate sensitivity) | Falling bond yields resulting from central bank interest rate cuts around the globe led to rising bond prices.

Non-U.S. bonds | Exposure to bonds outside of the U.S. aided performance, most notably from Europe, Australia, Canada, Indonesia, and New Zealand.

TOP PERFORMANCE DETRACTORS

Foreign currency exposure | Positions in the Canadian dollar, South Korean won, and Indonesian rupiah detracted from performance as these currencies weakened against the U.S. dollar.

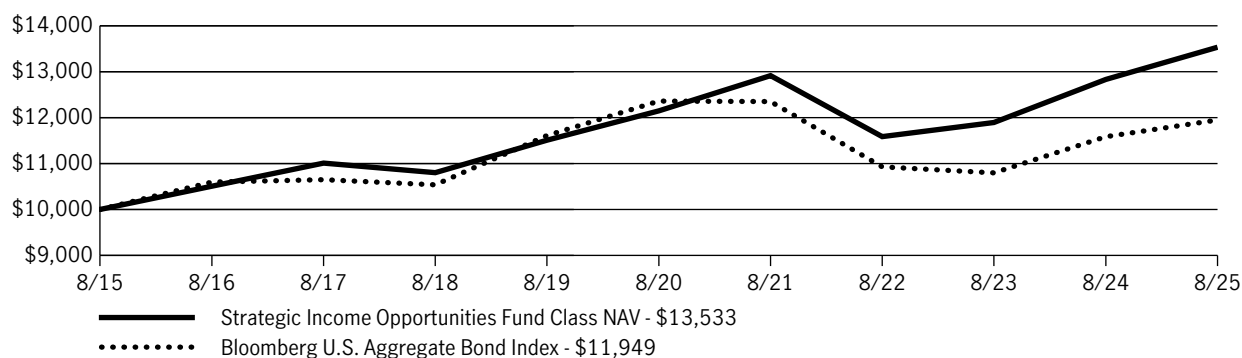

Longer-term bonds | Long-term bond yields rose during the period, putting downward pressure on their prices.

Performance figures assume all distributions have been reinvested and reflect the beneficial effect of any expense reductions. Past performance does not guarantee future results. The return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Due to market volatility and other factors, the fund's current performance may be higher or lower than the performance shown. The graph and table do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or redemption of fund shares. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.
